According to the Narcotic Drugs (Punishments) Act, the above-ground parts of the plant khat (Catha edulis) as well as the fungi Psilocybe semilanceata (liberty cap) and Psilocybe cubensis shall also be considered as narcotic drugs. The same applies to other fungi that contain the substances psilocybin or psilocin, if the mushrooms are grown or if they have been dried or otherwise prepared.

Furthermore, when enforcing the Act, ‘cannabis’ shall mean the parts of all plants of the Cannabis genus which grow above ground (with the exception of the seed) from which the resin has not been extracted, and irrespective of the names under which it may appear. ‘Cannabis’ shall not, however, mean hemp that:
