5. article 6, paragraph 2, second indent of Directive (EU) 2015/1535

6. The Czech Republic expresses its thanks for the information on the forthcoming regulation of Belgium 2024/0032/BE. However, the Czech Republic considers that the notified draft Royal Decree on the advertising of alcoholic beverages (hereinafter the 'draft') does not contain sufficient information on the proposed measures. In our view, the proposal is incomplete, lacking important information.

In particular, the draft decree lacks:

- Full clarification of the scope.
- Any details concerning the content of health information
- The date of its entry into force and the date of its application,
- Information on the specified transitional period (and its duration).

Undefined and wide-ranging scope beyond advertising:

- The definition of 'advertisement' set out in Article 1(1) of the proposal, and in particular the last sentence thereof ('the affixing of a brand or logo is also considered to be advertising') can be understood as covering absolutely all media, platforms and forms, from traditional advertising (TV, radio, printed and on-line publications) to branded glass, clothing or labels on bottles or cans. The scope is all-inclusive, goes beyond traditional advertising and is therefore not properly defined. The definition to be included in a revised decree should be clearly formulated, concrete and applicable.

Provisions concerning health information:

- Article 7 of the draft stipulates that 'All advertising of beverages containing alcohol must contain health information, the content and form of which shall be determined by the Minister. Only health information specified by the Minister may be included in the advertisement; any other health information, educational slogan or other formulation is prohibited.', which is, in our view, unreasonably restrictive.

This would create a disproportionate and unjustified barrier to trade, as economic operators exporting to Belgium would have to redesign their labels and other materials on which the company's brand or logo appears, even if the information they currently share, either voluntarily or compulsorily, is similar to the intended information envisaged by the draft.
