5. Draft decision on the list of services classified as being of general interest, pursuant to the provisions of Article 20-7 of Act No 86-1067 of 30 September 1986 on freedom of communication

6. User interfaces installed on televisions or equipment intended to be connected to the TV, on connected speakers, or on those made available by a service distributor or in an application store

7.

8. II of Article 20-7 of Act No 86-1067 of 30 September 1986 on freedom of communication, transposing Article 7a of Directive 2018/1808 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 November 2018 provides that 'Services of general interest shall be understood as services published by one of the bodies mentioned in Title III of this Act and by the TV5 channel for the performance of their public service tasks. Following a public consultation, the Regulatory Authority for Audiovisual and Digital Communication may include, in a proportionate manner and with regard to their contribution to pluralism of thought and opinion and to cultural diversity, other audiovisual communication services. It shall publish the list of such services.'

Having carried out the public consultation provided for by Act, Arcom proposes to extend the scope of services of general interest beyond that determined by Act, in accordance with the first subparagraph of Article 1 of the draft decision that is the subject of this notification:

'The following are considered services of general interest within the meaning of Article 20-7 of the Act of 30 September 1986 on freedom of communication:

1) services published by one of the bodies mentioned in Title III of the Act of 30 September 1986 and by the TV5 channel for the performance of their public service tasks;

2) free national television services holding a broadcasting licence issued pursuant to Article 30-1 of the Act of 30 September 1986, as well as on-demand audiovisual media services, made available free of charge to the user, intrinsically linked to those television services and published by the publishers of the latter, their subsidiaries or the companies controlling them within the meaning of point 2 of Article 41-3 of the aforementioned Act of 30 September 1986 or their subsidiaries.'

9. The draft text is adopted pursuant to Article 20-7 of the Act of 30 September 1986, as referred to in point 8 above.

The reasons which led to the classification of the services set out in Article 1 of the draft decision and referred to in point 8 above as services of general interest are set out in detail in the recitals to that draft decision and meet the objectives of contributing to pluralism of thought and opinion and to cultural diversity.
